DESCRIPTION

I would like to reemphasize the unique characteristics of this impressive plot of land. The expansive 85,000 m2 property features flat terrain and includes an entire forested area. This exceptional attribute not only makes it an ideal location for building a villa but also provides a myriad of versatile usage possibilities.

The flat terrain is well-suited for cultivating vegetables and fruits, while the surrounding forested area presents the opportunity to maintain a private forest. This is particularly appealing for those interested in horsekeeping, coupled with the luxury of owning their own woodland.

In addition to its prime location and building permit options, this plot offers a distinctive opportunity for various agricultural and recreational activities.
